LESSONS DRIVING AROUND

Thursday, February 25

As I drive around, I like to watch the Susquehanna River when I pass by. I watch as the water comes to an island or a stump. The water has three choices when it comes to a barrier to its path – to the right, to the left, or just keep ponding the object.

The current of life is like that. As we rush along we sometimes hit obstacles and we are faced with the same choices – go with the flow until we are back with the current of life or beat ourselves up and get stuck on the problem. Too often we get stuck, sometimes for years. But God is a God of grace, mercy and love who has promised to guide us through the difficulties of life. He has even sent His Son to suffer and die for us. Next time you hit a rough spot in life go with God’s flow and he will guide you through.
