DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Friday, January 28

The geese seem to be confused these days. They fly north and the next day they seem to be flying south. They land on frozen ponds and walk in lazy circles occasionally picking at the ice looking for food. I guess it is because Lancaster County lies near the border of the North and the South and as the weather moves up from the South rather than the West. They are confused.

I wonder about people who move from church to church to church looking for something that satisfies their needs. It is the music, or a theological stance they do not like, or maybe it is just time to move on. The important thing is to always keep your heart, soul, and mind on the life, death, and resurrection of Jesus.
