DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Tuesday, July 13

The day lilies on the road between Mount Joy and Landisville have been in full bloom the last week. A riot of orange brightens my trip to the church each day. I have waited for months for this short time when the lilies bloom. The sad thing is the individual flowers only last a day or so until they wither and die. The good news is they will be back next summer.

Humans are granted 70 or 80 years to flourish and bloom, then we too wither and fade away. We miss the family and friends who have shared our journey in life, but we have God's promise in Jesus' resurrection that we too shall live. Thanks be to God. Make the most of today.
