DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Wednesday, May 26

I stood on the porch and saw the first fine filament of a spider beginning a web between a pine tree and the purple flower of a columbine. It caught my eye because the sunlight reflected off it in rainbow colors as it swayed in the gentle breeze. I wondered how the spider had made that leap of faith from the pine to the flower to place the first important strand of the web. I wondered if the purple flower would provide sufficient support for the web. I was amazed a tiny spider could make such a long string. I marveled at the determination needed to spin a web. (Yes, I know food is a great motivator.)

Sometimes it feels like we are living on the precipice and deciding whether to risk jumping. Sometimes we wonder if the place we are going is better than our current location or situation. Jesus promised we would never walk alone. Faith may seem like a small safety net in this big world, but faith is what we hold on to. Faith makes all the difference.
