DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Wednesday, November 17

I looked in the mirror this morning and marveled at how grey I have gotten in the past year. (It is not due to Zion!) I had only a wisp of grey when I retired in June 2020. Now it encircles my face and is heading to the back of my head. I wonder how that happened. Some days the grey upsets me and some days I know I EARNED every one of those grey hairs. It is all part of getting older.

Not only has my hair changed, my thoughts and ideas have changed over the years. I read scripture passages I have read and studied hundreds of times and my ideas and reflections are so very different from those of my youth and middle age. I see nuances I never saw before. I see personalities and situations in a new light.

As we read and study scripture over a lifetime, we come to an ever-deepening understanding of the love of God and the meaning of his Son, Jesus.
