

Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church

Connecting with God; Connecting with Others; Connecting others with God

Pastor Melody Sell, Interim Pastor
85 E. Brandt Boulevard
Landisville, PA 17538
(717) 898-2911 (o)
(570) 916-8835 (c)
prmsell2@ptd.net

DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Tuesday, November 2

The last roses of summer are blooming in the garden. The flowers tapered off during September and I thought they were finished for the year and then they began blooming again like it was Springtime. The trees are turning colors and the leaves are beginning to drop. Berry bearing bushes are heavily laden with food for the winter. The fish are spending more time under the waterfall where they spend the winter, and they are eating twice as much as they did during the summer. Preparations are well underway for the winter months.

On the other side of the coin, farmers have planted winter wheat and rye which have made the fields a vibrant green. Spring bulbs are burying their roots deep in the ground preparing for spring flowers. Geese are flying south for the winter and will return in several months.

One season is winding down, but God is preparing for the next season. It is that way with our lives too. In Christ Jesus new life is prepared for us – eternal life with him.