DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Tuesday, November 23

The other day as I parked my car at Cooper House, the oak leaves were falling. They didn't just drop to the ground like a rock, they swirled and fluttered like ballet dancers. It was beautiful.

It is amazing how even in decay and death there is beauty and hope. The dry leaves will nourish the ground for new growth in the spring. Death for us brings with it a promise of God's love and new life in Christ. In God's hands there is hope even in death and decay.
