DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Wednesday, November 24

I read an interesting article about a Christmas tree company in London. You pick out a live tree the first year. At the end of the holiday season, they pick it up and replant it. The following year the tree is brought back a little bit taller. The tree is picked up, replanted, and returned each year until it reaches seven feet, and then it is planted in a forest. The next Christmas a new tree is delivered for the holidays. What a great idea.

God gave humanity dominion over the earth and made us responsible for its stewardship. We can celebrate the season and do good things for the earth.
