

Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church

Connecting with God; Connecting with Others; Connecting others with God

Pastor Melody Sell, Interim Pastor
85 E. Brandt Boulevard
Landisville, PA 17538
(717) 898-2911 (o)
(570) 916-8835 (c)
prmsell2@ptd.net

DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Thursday, November 4

I have been watching the weather today (10/26) and have been fascinated as meteorologists explained how the wind and storm, we will have today started in the middle of the Pacific Ocean several days ago. It worked its way across the country causing snow in the Rocky Mountains, tornadoes in the Mid-West, and now a Nor'easter on the Atlantic coast. It is utterly amazing to contemplate.

Ben Franklin, among others during the colonial period, noted how they could trace the weather by letter over several days. Early diaries are full of entries about the weather. They were intrigued by the movement of storms just as I am today.

We sometimes forget how incredibly powerful nature is, but nature is reminder of the formidable power of God. If God can cause a storm to move from the mid-Pacific to the Atlantic in a few days, his power as creator must be even more powerful. Too often we do not give God full credit for his power and majesty.

What will happen today to show our God is an awesome God?