DAILY DEVOTIONAL FROM PASTOR SELL

Thursday, September 23

The other day while stopped at a light on Rohrerstown Road, I saw a semi-trailer loaded almost to overflowing with pumpkins. Hundreds -- if not thousands -- of orange and yellow pumpkins. I briefly thought about how many pies those pumpkins might make, but I quickly banished that thought because I'm not a great lover of pumpkin pie. I thought about Jesus feeding the 5000, five loaves and two fish went further than another one could believe.

Lancaster County has been blessed with abundance. As I walk through the garden I am amazed at the dense clusters of berries on the bushes. My yard is full of food for the neighborhood wildlife this winter. God has blessed us with abundance if only we take time to look and give thanks.
